

Proof Eyewear is a glasses company that uses sustainable materials in order to give back to the environment. In order to spread the news to the general public and expand to more than just a couple of locations and online, this is where this project comes in. The goal of this is to provide the general public with not only a way to purchase eyewear, but also to know about what Proof Eyewear is all about. This structure opens up from a closed cube into five different zones.

